Hi,
I understand we have been at odds since we met August 2017. I do apologize for my anger that you have been apart of not understanding what I have had to deal with regarding the towns p.d. lies and courts conspiring to convict instead of help and lack of investing into differentiation of myself and this other Michael Hall and years later troubles with Shawn Carr. You did not know what my family was dealing with (and at that time in 2017 neither did I), you saw a woman working whose recent ex was pleading for her to do as she had said many times in that recent year and move to her sister's. A man who loves his sons mother even now still although with abit of hate(that is not lasting) as would any ex spouse whose been lied about and jailed and kept from his son.

I don't expect you to care. I expect you to do what is right even though the towns p.d. has not when asked multiple times. I don't take medication, never have, and still don't even where I currently am. I can only deduct from what I had to say to the evaluator that she saw the truth of the posititon I am in fighting an uphill battle with people of status in Haverhill. I'm backed into a corner with Haverhill and have been for some time now dealing with Shawn Carrs manipulative actions setting me up, coming by my apartments when I'm not home, trying to kill me multiple times, etc. I had to lie and say I was lying last fall because I had already dealt with a lack of help from the very p.d. saying they were going to investigate and my son needed me out to be there for him. Something my own father has rarely done for me. I shouldn't have lied last fall, I know that. It didn't help me then, it only made things worse.

Your a third party to my families troubles. I just want the truth to be told, seen and used. My son needs me. And I just want the truth out there and be there for my son.

I know I was rash emailing yesterday and all these posts making my side known. I don't deserve this and neither does my son. I had him 4-5 days and nights a week before I got up the nerve to ask the p.d. for help again and was met with bs Dec. 5th 2020 by the p.d. then 2 months later I keep my kid, my side doesn't get seen by the Family court, she gets custody and I get a harrassment order that should have been for Shawn Carr.

Can you please help me fix this? We only have acouple options, we both know that. I don't think it's to late to get this straightened out.

Respectfully and Sincerely,
Michael Gary Hall
